A Catholic Language Arts Program

Pre-Level
Cursive Edition

Welcome to Lighted Lanterns

A Catholic Language Arts Program

By definition, language arts are the subjects —reading, spelling, literature, and composition—that aim at developing the student's comprehension and capacity for use of written and oral language.

The Lighted Lanterns approach to language arts is based around the natural method of learning. With the natural method, the child learns to write from model examples by a process of copy, dictate, compare and repeat. Reading, spelling, and comprehension are developed along with the copywork, dictation and narrations.

Lighted Lanterns Pre-Level is a stepping stone to the process of copywork and dictation. With this Level, we assume the student has some familiarity with beginning reading and writing. It is not a course to learn to form letters, but a review and expansion of letters learned. Short writing assignments, poems, rhymes, riddles, jokes, short stories and lines for narrations round out the program and help prepare the student for Lighted Lanterns Level A.

How to use this program:

This book consists of 26 lessons, one for each letter of the alphabet, and extra writing practice pages in the back of the book.

Each lesson contains the following components:

Writing Practice: Space for practicing the lesson's letter is provided as well as a short sentence fragment for copywork practice. As always, tailor this to fit your student. If tracing and writing out is too much, pick one or the other. Tracing one day and writing it out another time may also be an option.

Fill in the Blanks: Write the lesson's letter to complete the words.

Writing Assignment: Safety tips, phonics principles, etc. are used for short writing assignments. An extra line is given in these assignments for the teacher to write out the words the student is to write. Some students may not need this help, but for many young writers, having the words they are to write positioned directly above the line they are to write on is beneficial.

Introduction

Alphabet Rhyme: A nursery rhyme based on each letter is used for a letter search activity. Encourage the reading and memorization of the rhymes.

Catholic Nursery Rhymes by Sister Mary Gertrude

Short Story: A short saint story for each letter is provided. You may want to use the stories for narrations.

Capital Practice: The capital version of the lesson's letter is given practice space.

Just for Fun: Short letter rhymes, jokes, tongue twisters, etc. for each letter.

Encourage the reading and memorization of these as they are excellent exercises for the oral portion of language arts.

Narration: Narration is an integral part of language arts. To narrate is simply to tell (as a story) in detail. It is an excellent gauge of how much your student knows about a subject. Most children aren't born with the gift of narrating genius, most need to develop the skill just as they do reading and writing. Your child typically narrates to you all the time, whenever they are telling you about anything they see or experience. Encourage this natural narration by asking pertinent questions to help the child form a coherent series of events.

Here, lines are provided for you to write down your student's narration. You can use the saint story provided, a different book or story the child is familiar with, or any event in the child's life.

Extra Activity: Something fun — picture to color, drawing assignment, etc.— to finish off each lesson.

The Extra Practice section at the back of the book can be used in conjunction with the lessons or as needed.

Sample Schedule:

This book has 26 lessons which leaves you with many options for completing it. Below is a sample of what one week could possibly look like.

Day 1 - Read sentence fragment on the first page of the lesson.

Complete the Writing Practice section.

And told her that Mother of God she would be.
"Hail Mary!" he whispered;
"The Lord is with thee."

Story Time

St. Ambrose

St. Ambrose was born a long time ago in the country that we know of as France. When St. Ambrose was born though, it was known as Gaul. His father was a Roman prefect – that means that he was one of the men that helped rule Gaul for the Roman Empire.

When St. Ambrose was a baby, a swarm of bees came and landed on his face and left a little honey on his lips. His father thought this was a sign that his son would one day be a powerful speaker. And he was right! St. Ambrose grew up to become a bishop and a doctor of the Church and is considered to be one of the greatest preachers of the early Catholic Church.

Look close at his picture. Do you see the bees? Many pictures of St. Ambrose have bees or beehives in them because of the story of the bees when he was a baby.

God has given you an angel to be your faithful friend on this earth. Pray to your guardian angel each morning and night and when you need their help!

Safety Tips

Help!

Do you know what to do if you lose your parents in a public place like in a store or at the park?

The answer is: Do not go looking for them!

Immediately ask someone who works there to help you. Tell them that you have been separated from your parents and need help finding them. You can easily get more lost if you go off trying to find your parents on your own.

Trace and write the sentence below.

Help me please.

There are 6 capital H's and 9 small h's in this nursery rhyme.

Draw a circle around each one you find.

H is the Home.
It is Nazareth at last,
where with His parents
His boyhood was passed.
“He was subject to them,”
for He always obeyed,
And practiced with Joseph the Carpenter’s trade.

Story Time

St. Hunna

Have you ever heard of dukes and duchesses? They are people who are related to kings and queens. It used to be that dukes and duchesses were very important people who owned much land and usually were quite wealthy.

This story is about Hunna, the daughter of a well-to-do duke who grew up and married another duke. Most dukes and duchesses did not have much to do with people who were not as wealthy and powerful as they were. Hunna was different.

Hunna and her husband were Christians and Hunna felt the need to serve others. She was very aware of the poor living conditions of the peasants and servants around her. She started to go out every day and offer to wash their dirty clothes for them. Hunna would gather up clothing and wash them herself and soon became known as the 'holy washerwoman'.

It wasn't long before Hunna was doing much more than just washing clothes. She was helping with cooking, cleaning, child care, and instructing people on washing their bodies regularly, which was not a common practice at that time. She helped to bathe the elderly or infirm who couldn't manage on their own.

St. Hunna was a shining example of true charity: loving and caring for her neighbor for the love of our Lord.

Capital Practice: Trace the letters then write them on the line below.

H H H H H H

What did the horse say when it fell?
I've fallen and can't giddyup!

Narration: Write it down!
